Professional Language Services

Language Intelligence provides an array of language services to companies all over the world, specializing in verticals such as market research, human resources, life science, technology, and eLearning.

Translation: Speaking the language of your customer is critical. Our worldwide team of 500+ translators localizes documents, websites, and software in over 100 languages. Our multilingual tech and desktop publishing teams specialize in post-translation production and design to produce high-quality translated deliverables. If it has words, we'll make sure your customer understands it perfectly.

Language & Culture Training: Our expert teachers and technology help you master new languages as fast as possible. With face-to-face human interaction, 24/7 online instruction, and advanced speech recognition tools at your fingertips, you'll be well on your way to building meaningful relationships with international clients.

Interpreting: Communicating in any language is more about knowing the right way than the right words. That's why we match you with experts fluent in your industry, as well as your source and target languages. When you need an interpreter on-site to help you communicate with your customers, we have just the right person.

If you'd like to get more insights into our process, or if you have questions about our other services, please contact Rick White.
